GEN. BLANCO'S ORDER

Of Conscription in Cuba Shows That He is In Sore Straits.

Seat of Cuban Government May Soon Be Moved to the Vicinity of Matanzas.

Washington, May 2.—Secretary Quesada, of the Cuban legation here, said Saturday that Gen. Blanco's order conscripting Cubans between the ages of fifteen and fifty in the Spanish army showed the dire extremity to which the Spanish commander was driven. Mr. Quesada said that up to this time the Spanish authorities have not utilized the services of a single Cuban company or regiment, knowing that the Cubans at heart devoted to the cause of Cuba and take the first opportunity to turn their arms against Spain. For this reason the volunteer forces at Havana and elsewhere, he said, were recruited exclusively from Spaniards.

Mr. Quesada said the present movement to raise Cuban conscripts was futile and such Cubans as are forced to enlist under the Spanish flag will find an opportunity to use their strength in the cause of Cuba. In high Cuban quarters the opinion prevails that President Maso, of the Cuban republic, and his cabinet will remove soon from Sancti Spiritus, where they are thought to be at present, to the neighborhood of Matanzas with a view to establishing the seat of the Cuban civil government at or near Matanzas. It is said, however, that this will depend much upon the instructions carried by Lieut. Rowan, U. S. A., to the Cuban commanders. The nature of these instructions is not disclosed. It is intimated, however, that one of the first results is likely to be the transfer of President Maso and his entire cabinet to the Cuban coast and the setting up there of a complete civil organization. One of the advantages of this move, from the Cuban standpoint, is that it will give the Cuban civil government a most distinct identity and will advance the recognition of its independence. This independence continues to be sincerely hoped for at an early day by the Cuban authorities in Washington. They are anxious to assume a more official status with the authorities here than they occupy at present.

Hundreds of Spanish Lives Were Lost, and Probably Many Americans Felt Under the Spanish Fire.

Washington, May 2, 12:21 p. m.—Commodore Dewey confirms yesterday's victory in an official report to the navy department. The British consul at Manila cables that the governor of the Philippine islands has sent a flag of truce to Commodore Dewey and has offered to surrender. The bombardment of the city lasted but a few minutes. The capture of the city is now assured.

Washington, May 2, 11:12 a. m.—The war board has issued orders for beginning the first move for the invasion of Cuba which is now expected to take place this week certainly. The greatest enthusiasm prevails in the army and navy departments and great confidence is expressed that the war will not be of long duration as has been feared.

Hong Kong, May 2.—It is reported here that two American ships were lost in the battle at Manila. The story is of Spanish origin and is not believed here. London, May 2.—Cable dispatches just received confirm the reports of the signal victory of Admiral Dewey's fleet. They say only two of the Spanish ships are left. The British consul cables that Commodore Dewey has just informed him that the bombardment of Manila will be begun immediately.

London, May 2, 11:01 a. m.—The cable operator at Manila closed his last message before fleeing to save his life saying that Dewey's fleet was pouring shot and shell into the city. The cable concludes by saying that the Spaniards are ready to capitulate.

London, May 2, 11:32 a. m.—Spanish agents here admit that it is now only a matter of a few hours until Manila is in complete possession of the Americans under Commodore Dewey.

Madrid, May 2.—Cable dispatches report serious fighting off the Philippine islands between the American and Spanish squadrons.

The American squadron appeared in the Bay of Manila at 5 a. m. yesterday morning, and opened a strong cannonading against the Spanish fleet and the Manila forts. After a terrible engagement the American fleet retreated to the other side of the bay and landed its killed and wounded on the shore. The Spanish losses were very heavy, and the American ships were severely damaged. Capt. Cadaizeo, commander of the Maria Christina, was killed. Later dispatches say that the Maria Christina and Castinella were both burned, and that the rest of the Spanish fleet retreated, after some of the ships were sunk, to escape being captured.

Admiral Montez, during the battle, transferred his flag from the Maria Christina to the Isle de Cuba, and thus escaped the fate of the captain of the Christina.

THE PEOPLE REJOICE.

New York, May 3.—This city is wild over the news of Commodore Dewey's signal victory off Manila, which is confirmed by the latest news from London.

Washington, May 2.—The news of the crushing defeat of the Spanish fleet by Commodore Dewey has thrown this city into a state of intense excitement. Congratulations are pouring in upon the President from all parts of the country.

The navy department is crowded with public officials and members of congress eagerly awaiting the latest details. No fear was ever felt at the department that Dewey would fail in defeating the Spanish fleet, but his victory is greater than was expected.

BOMBARDMENT OF MANILA.

London, May 2, 2:38 a. m.—The British consul has just cabled that the bombardment of Manila by the American fleet has just begun. The city is panic-stricken and the people are fleeing to the hills by the thousands.

The Spanish are replying to the bombardment with their shore batteries, but are handling them very poorly.

New York, May 2.—Cable communication with Manila has been interrupted this afternoon. It is believed that Dewey has cut the cable to put one end on shipboard to complete communication with the American government.

New York, May 2, 2:46 p. m.—The latest dispatches from Manila place the number of Spanish killed at from 500 to 550, and the financial loss to Spain in the destruction of her fleet at $6,000,000. The American loss of lives is not given.

and is not thought to be very great. Washington, May 2, 3:22 p. m.—The British legation here says that Manila has surrendered. The state department has no confirmation but the report is believed.

Washington, May 2, 3:44 p. m.—President McKinley is accredited with saying that the war will be over within a month and does not think volunteers will be needed. General Miles is pushing his plans for invading Cuba.

London, May 1.—(Special cable the Courier-Journal.)—The Asiatic squadron of the United States, Commodore Dewey commanding, today engaged and completely defeated the Asiatic squadron of Spain in the harbor of Manila, in the Philippine islands.

All the news of the great naval battle thus far received is coming from Spanish sources. This shows conclusively that Manila has not yet been taken by the American forces and that the cable lines are still under the control of Spain.

From the fact that even the advices received from Madrid show that the American warships fared the best, there is hardly any doubt that when complete details are obtainable it will be learned that it was a crushing defeat for Spain. Reports of the battle thus far are coming in piecemeal. During the two engagements that took place Commodore Montez, commanding the Spanish fleet, lost three of his largest ships. His flagship, the armored cruiser Maria Reina Cristina, and the armored cruiser Castilla were burned, and the cruiser Don Juan de Austria was blown up. Several other Spanish vessels were badly damaged.

Under the protection of the guns of the fortifications, the Spanish warships opened fire on the American fleet. For several hours the harbor resounded with the roar of guns, the crashing of steel and timbers, the shrieks and groans of the wounded. Thick clouds of smoke at times almost obscured the opposing fleets from each other.

A well directed shot reached the iron cruiser Don Juan de Austria, a vessel of eleven hundred tons. A terrific explosion followed and the ship was blown up. All the time during the first engagement the American ships were under way, their maneuvering being intended to render the marksmanship of the Spanish gunners less effective. There was a heavy loss of life among the Spanish. Capt. Cardase,

London, May 2.—It is reported here today that the life of the Queen Regent is endangered by Spanish riots and that she may have to flee from the enraged populace. The news of the destruction of the Spanish fleet and the probable surrender of Manila have so inflamed the people that a revolution may be expected at any moment.

Madrid, May 2.—It is officially stated today that the Spanish government will equip privateers and begin a campaign of piracy against American commerce immediately. It has always been held here that the only way to ruin or to compel the

MONDAY, MAY 2, 1898

Our esteemed contemporary, the morning Register, should caution the Associated Press to be sure and send its fake news only to the News, and thus give the Register a chance to get an item by correcting the false report.

The recent editorial in the Daily Register claiming that only the report of the Associated Press, sent out to morning papers, is reliable, and that the afternoon Associated Press report is unreliable, would make interesting reading for the manager of the Associated Press.

While Spain is drafting men to get soldiers, the United States is embarrassed by too many volunteers. The call for 125,000 volunteers has been more than met, and it is evident that the government could get half a million men as easily as it gets the first 125,000. But, should the hostilities with Spain be prolonged, there will doubtless be a chance for all who desire to enlist. So those who now are disappointed should keep cool and wait; they may yet get all the war experience they desire, and more, too.

WM. JENNINGS BRYAN has at last plucked up courage enough to offer his services to the President. Just why he should make this offer to the President instead of the nearest recruiting officer is unknown; he is a private citizen and totally without military experience. But, though he has been posing as the great champion of the cause of the masses, he has not the strength of his convictions to volunteer as a private along with the rest of the masses. Mr. Bryan should practice what he preaches.

UNDER the army reorganization and the volunteer bills which have just passed Congress all citizens between 18 and 45 years of age are held liable to military duty in case of war. They are divided into two organizations—regulars and volunteers. The latter differ from the regulars only in having their enlistments dependent on the duration of the war and in having their officers from colonel down appointed by the Governors of the states instead of by the President. In the organization of the troops three or more regiments will constitute a brigade, and three or more brigades will form an army corps. The brigades will be commanded by brigadier generals and the divisions and corps by major generals. The suggestion of the secretary of war that as far as practicable the national guard be given the preference in the organization of regiments and battalions has naturally led to some confusion in the public mind with reference to the manner in which the state militia is to be called into service. The militia, as such, cannot be sent outside of the state by the President. Congress cannot authorize the President to send Col. Castleman's Legion of the Kentucky State Guards, into Cuba. The law is purposely framed, however, so as to provide for the enlistment of the members of existing militia organizations as volunteers, retaining the personnel of the organization so far as practicable.

THE BOND ISSUE.

Secretary of the Treasury Gage is Already Arranging for It.

Much Interest in It and It Will Be One of the Most Popular Issues Ever Made.

Washington, May 2.—Anticipating that the senate will agree to the war revenue bill passed by the house, the secretary of the treasury is already making arrangements for the bond issue of five hundred millions provided for in the bill. Secretary Gage has determined to preserve all the features of a popular loan under the bill, $500,000,000 of bonds to be issued to draw interest at the rate of 3 per cent per annum. These are to be made payable in coin. They are to be sold at par. To emphasize the fiction of a popular loan it has been decided to make a preferred class of all subscribers for $1,000 or less. Secretary Gage believes that the entire issue of $500,000,000 will be oversubscribed. In that case the individual subscribers for $1,000 or more will be barred, and the entire $500,000,000 will be apportioned pro rata among the subscribers of $1,000 or less. Blanks have been prepared for subscribers and they will be scattered throughout the land. Subscriptions will be received through banks, brokers, postoffices and express offices, or directly through the mails. Drafts, certified checks or other lawful payment will be accepted.

There is a movement in congress already to make the denomination of the bonds as low as ten dollars. The limit under the war revenue bill is fifty dollars.

It is likely that the new issue will be one of the most popular ever made. Already much interest is manifested. Many banks and brokers have offered to accept and forward to the secretary of the treasury any subscriptions. Others have offered to perform this service, but have not stated whether they would exact a commission for the transaction. All such offers will have to be declined, for the reason that the secretary of the treasury has determined to pay no commission in floating the war loan.

DOUBLE DROWNING.

Two Well Known Men Lose Their Lives While Out Rowing—Will Baynam and Ed Lippold, Drowned.

Their Boat Was Struck by the Joe Fowler's Wheel—Lee Douglas Has a Miraculous Escape.
The Bodies Recovered.

A double tragedy that shocked the entire city occurred yesterday morning a few minutes after 11 o'clock, within a few yards of the wharfboat, below the ferry landing. Messrs. Will Baynam and Edward Lippold were drowned in full view of several spectators, all of whom were powerless to save them.

They had been riding in a small fishing boat, which was rowed by Lee Douglas, night fireman at the Palmer House. When they were coming in to shore, the Mary N. approached with a tow, and to avoid the tow and waves, they pulled on down below the Joe Fowler, which was landing above the wharf. They were floating, the oars not even being in the oarlocks. Just as their boat reached the stern of the Fowler, the latter began to back up, and they were caught by the revolving wheel. The wheel had been motionless until they reached it, and when the steamer began to back, the oars not being handy, they had no way to escape the powerful wheel.

As soon as the boat was caught, Messrs. Baynam and Lippold jumped out, but the other man remained in, and was carried by the wheel under the boat. He thought he was lost and gave up once, he claims, but with a power born of desperation, clung to the wheel until he came up on the other side. They then told him that his companions were both drowned.

Several on the wharf boat witnessed the accident, and Mr. Wayne Turner, who was near, cast them a plank and told them to hold to it until a line could be procured. In the meantime the line was brought and thrown to the rapidly disappearing forms, but Mr. Baynam cried that he "was too weak," or "was gone," and sank to rise no more. The other unfortunate man was some little distance further down the river, and seems to have floated for several moments after he came up for the last time. His form then disappeared. The hats floated down the river, but the boat, which seems never to have turned over, was brought to bank. Mr. John Baynam was near and when the cry of "men overboard" was heard, ran for a skiff, but did not know his own brother was one of the men.

Searchers at once began dragging for the bodies, and about 1 o'clock their efforts were rewarded by finding the remains of Mr. Lippold, some little distance below the lower wharf. The remains were caught on a hook. The body was placed in the wharf boat, and about 2 o'clock Coroner Phelps arrived and held an inquest, the evidence introduced being substantially the same as above.

The verdict of the jury was that the drowning was accidental, and attached no blame to any one. The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker Ellinger.

The men were both well known in Paducah. Mr. Baynam was bookkeeper for the Scott Hardware Co., and was unmarried. He was about 38 years old, and was a brother to Postman John Baynam.

Mr. Lippold was foreman at Klein's cigar factory, and came to Paducah from Metropolis about four years ago. His home was Cincinnati. He was 37 years of age, and leaves a wife to mourn his loss. He was married to a young lady of Metropolis. His home was over Peter's boatstore, on First street.

Messrs. Tom Argus and Chas. Sugars, clerks on the wharf boat, saw the struggles of the two men, and heard Mr. Baynam when he said he was gone. The other man, when he rose, would blow the water from his mouth and cry for help, until he drowned.

Douglas' escape was little short of miraculous. He was carried entirely under the boat. His head was painfully skinned on top, and he was bruised on the breast. The search for Mr. Baynam's body lasted until late in the afternoon, when several charges of dynamite were fired under the water. About 8 p. m. the watchman on the coal dock below the wharf boat found the body floating alongside the barge, and hauled it in. Mr. Baynam's watch had been slightly broken, apparently by the dynamite.

The remains were carried to Ellinger's undertaking establishment where an inquest was held at 9 o'clock, the verdict being that he came to his death from accidental drowning.

Mrs. Baynam, and Mr. Max Baynam, of Memphis, mother and brother of the deceased, arrived this morning from Memphis and two sisters are expected this afternoon from the south. Mr. Baynam's funeral will take place tomorrow morning from the house, 431 North Seventh.

BYCYCLE NOTES.

Have your wheel overhauled at once—an unnoticed defect will probably develop into a serious break.

Wheels can be changed to suit your costume or complexion.

Breaks on the rear hub and gear cases are being adopted.

Cork and wool tread are among the novelties this season.

The only doctor a wheelman needs is the repairman.

Short rivets being stronger, a narrow chain is the best.

Dr. Romain, a German scientist, is constructing wheels that are rustless and very light. He has a chain of alloy of his own invention.

Using magnets to handle the balls in a wheel has no permanent effect on them.

Bicycles can not be used in Cuba. There are no roads, and the paths are overgrown in a short time by the vines and tropical plants.

Exports of wheels are reduced by the war to a great extent.

Don't oil your wheel too much in dusty weather. Vaseline in the bearings lasts longer and does not accumulate grit.

Keep the chain clean and use dry lubricant.

Don't smoke while on a wheel, it affects the heart.

In ordinary riding only one-third of a horse power is exerted, but for a short sprint it sometimes reaches one-third of a horse power.

A wheelman can travel fifty per cent faster with an expenditure of only one-fifth of the energy of a pedestrian.

A buggy is never loaded with double its own weight, yet a wheel weighing twenty-five pounds often carries eight times its own weight. Therefore get a good one.

A good chain wheel should not cost over $50.

A cheap wheel and a doctor's bill go together.

T. P. A. BANQUET.

The T. P. A. banquet at the Palmer house Saturday night closed the fourth annual convention, and was decidedly the most enjoyable in the history of the organization, made so by the presence of the ladies who were there in great numbers. President J. R. Porter was toast master, and acquitted himself with his usual grace and wit. He delivered the address of welcome, and was followed by some of the best talkers that could have been found. Hon. T. E. Moss was unable to be present on account of illness. The others were:

PROF. FOX HONORED.

The Sunday school of the Broadway M. E. church yesterday had a happy surprise in store for Prof. E. A. Fox, the superintendent. At the morning session he was presented with a fine gold watch by the teachers and pupils of the Sunday school. It had an inscription inside, expressing love and good wishes from the donors, and the presentation speech was made by Prof. C. B. Hatfield, who paid Prof. Fox a high tribute.

Prof. Fox and family left on the 1 o'clock train for their new home in Louisville.

PURITAN'S LAST SHOT.

A Key West dispatch to the Courier Journal says:—"The most popular of the ships in the harbor is the monitor Puritan, now here taking coal. The Herald and Courier-Journal took Thursday, in their exclusive account of the shelling of the Matanzas shore batteries, of the wonder if shot with which the Puritan finished the action, demolishing the battery and hurling earthworks, emplacement, gun carriages and concrete sixty feet in the air in one terrific volcano of iron, earth and stone.

"Black Jack" Harrington, the Puritan's captain, has been here today, and that last shot is the talk of the week. I learned today from an officer of the Puritan that the man who sighted that death dealing gun at a distance of nearly two miles and a half from the shore batteries was Gunner's Mate Jackson, one of the most popular lads on the monitor.

Jackson had just sighted his piece, and, as he afterwards explained, he had the range so perfect that he was sure of a center shot. At that critical moment the flagship signaled to stop firing. Jackson could not bear to lose that beautiful aim, so he her go a moment after the action was officially declared off. If he had made a bad shot Gunner's Mate Jackson might have been reprimanded but when the men of the entire squadron witnessed the terrible execution done by Jackson's last shot five hundred caps of "Jackies" came off in a jiffy.

Cheers rang lustily from the decks of the flagship, the monitor and the cruiser Cincinnati impromptu honnpies were executed on the gun deck of the Puritan, and the marksman was seized and hugged again and again like a lost brother.

"I knew I'd hit her that time," was Jackson's smiling comment, "and the whole navy could not stop it after I had it sighted."

Send your horse to J. Will Smith at Glauber's stable, if it needs the attention of a veterinary surgeon. You may thus save a valuable horse. 23a 7

SUNSHINE SINKS.

The steamer Sunshine, which passed down for Memphis yesterday, sank in about six feet of water Friday afternoon a short distance below Rockport. When the boat was backing out from the wharf she struck a snag and a large hole was knocked in her hull. A few minutes after the hull began to fill with water rapidly and Capt. Don Marr ordered her beached. The boat was lying on the bottom of the river with several inches of water over her decks when the towboat Mariner was sighted and a distress signal given.

The towboat hurried to the assistance of the Sunshine and soon had her hull clear of water. The damage was repaired and the Sunshine proceeded down the river.

The snag which came so near causing the destruction of the Sunshine is a constant menace to steamboatmen and should be removed. Last week the Rose Hite struck it twice, but as she was running light she escaped injury.

LONG MEETINGS.

SCHOOL BOARD.
The school board meets tonight in called session, to take up the matter of completing the new school house on Broadway. The bids were opened Friday night, and an adjournment taken until tonight.

The board is confronted with this state of affairs. It has but about $16,000 with which to complete the building out of this year's levy, and not desiring to wait until next year, has taken steps to complete it this, the balance to be paid next year. The bids show that it will require about $23,000 to put a roof over the house, and the matter was referred to the committee.

It is understood that some of the members are in favor of completing the work and paying the balance next year, while the others are in favor of waiting, believing that the other course is illegal. The committee will recommend that all the work possible be done at once, as far as the money will go. This will enable the board, if concerned in, to put up the walls, but not to put the building under roof.

THE COUNCIL.
The council will meet tonight in regular session and the prospects are that the session will be a long drawn out one. The regular monthly bills, about one hundred more or less in number, will be allowed, and besides it is regular license night, and a large number of these will have to be considered. There are a number of ordinances to be passed, also.

SUNDAY EXCURSIONS.

About 70 people from Paducah went on the excursion to Memphis over the I. C. yesterday. The crowd when Memphis was reached was quite large.

The crowd that went on the Dick Fowler's excursion to Eddyville was also quite large, and both excursion parties report a pleasant time.

FISH KILLED.

The dynamite exploded in the river yesterday afternoon to raise the remains of Mr. Baynam, killed hundreds of fish, and there were many people out in boats catching the fish as they came to the surface.

AN OPERATION NECESSARY.

Master Jimmie Street is dangerously ill of appendicitis and this afternoon an operation will be performed on him, with the hope of relieving him.

ENJOYABLE EXCURSION.

The excursion on the steamer Woodruff, given by Mr. J. L. Kilgore Saturday, was attended by a large crowd, and was most enjoyable. The boat went to Metropolis, and returned about 9:30 in the evening.

CHILDERS BACK.

Pineckey Childers, who was paroled by Gov. Bradley Saturday, reached home yesterday from Eddyville, highly elated over his release.

KENTUCKY IS AWAKE.

Commercial Convention Will Be a Grand Success.

EVERYBODY INTERESTED IN IT.

Industrial Development Is One Thing Desired.

REMARKABLE SPIRIT OF PROGRESS

It is not for the benefit of a class, but for the masses—many important subjects will be discussed by those most competent to handle them—Promotion and Development are to be considered to the exclusion of less profitable things.

Kentucky's first state commercial convention, to be held in Louisville May 11 and 12, is to be a success. The movement in that direction has progressed far enough to assure those engineering it of that.

It is to be a success because the lawyer, the farmer, the merchant, the manufacturer, the lumber dealer, the mine owner, the stock raiser, the banker and the journalist will all unite in one grand effort to push Kentucky and her untold resources to the front. It is to be a success because business talks are to take the place of political speeches; because promotion and development are to be discussed to the exclusion of less profitable things; finally it is to be a success because the time is ripe for a state commercial convention to be a success.

Less than two months ago several progressive business men, members of the Louisville Commercial club, held a meeting in Louisville to formulate plans for a convention which would have for its object the creation of a sentiment favorable to industrial development, teaching the benefits of such a course and to prepare literature setting forth Kentucky's advantages. This little gathering was followed by larger ones until the bit of enterprise that was manifested in the first meeting burst into a spirit of progress that was made to permeate the entire state. The convention soon assumed tangible form. An executive committee, with representatives from every congressional district, was named, as were committees on delegation, press and publicity, finance, transportation, hall, entertainment, and delegation state at large. Mr. Clarence Dillman, a well known and popular young attorney of Louisville, who is a native of Henderson, but was for many years identified with Paducah as a lawyer, was elected chairman, and Mr. J. C. Van Pelt, assistant secretary of the Commercial club, secretary.

This industry's star of promotion rose rapidly. A meeting was held at which seven of the 11 districts had prominent representation, and a program was arranged, the following subjects being selected as those that are to be discussed during the convention:

"Kentucky's Advantages—Geographical, Climate and Soil."

"Our Agricultural Opportunities and Needs."

"Our Industrial Opportunities and Needs."

"The Best System of State and Local Taxation."

"How May Capital Be Best Attracted to and Most Profitably Employed in Kentucky?"

"Immigration—The Best Method of Encouraging Desirable Immigration."

"Corporations—Uses and Abuses—A Just Discrimination the Part of Wisdom."

"Railroads—The Greatest Source of Development, and How Best to Employ It."

"Good Roads—Essential to Progress and Prosperity."

"Administration of Justice—Its Delays and Costs."

"Reform in Commercial Laws—Assignments, Commercial Paper, Mortgage Liens."

"Land Titles—How to Expedite the Settlement of."

It was then agreed that the following named gentlemen should be invited to attend the convention and deliver speeches on the subjects mentioned:

Major P. F. Johnston, Lexington. C. P. Garrett, Hopkinsville. M. S. Scoville, Lexington. Henry Watterson, Louisville. John B. Atkinson, Earlinton. Charles T. Ballard, Louisville. William J. Hendrick, Frankfort. W. G. Welch, Stanford. John Young Brown, Louisville. John W. Lewis, Springfield. B. G. Witt, Henderson. S. A. Denham, Williamsburg. General Roy Stone, Washington, D. C. G. E. Johnson, Louisville. John W. Yerkes, Danville. Henry Burnett, Paducah. R. C. Kincaid, Louisville. C. U. McElroy, Bowling Green. James G. Black, Barbourville. Thomas S. Pettit, Owensboro. J. M. Atterton, Louisville. M. H. Crump, Bowling Green. J. C. S. Blackburn, Washington, D. C. Douglas Putman, Ashland. Andrew C. Cox, Louisville. J. Stoddard Johnston, Louisville. Alex. P. Humphrey, Louisville. Besides the addresses by these gentlemen—27 of the state's most prominent professional and business men—it was decided to select several leading citizens from all parts of Kentucky to make some five-minute talks.

In the meantime a call for the convention had been distributed throughout the state for signers, and in a brief space of time it went back to Louisville with 257 names, representing a majority of the counties.

This call stated emphatically that it was not to men to any class of citizens, but to all men who are concerned in the future of Kentucky. It was formally issued about two weeks ago and met with a welcome the heartiness of which left no doubt in the minds of those who have worked so industriously for the success of the movement that the convention would prove a history-making body.

Happy Selection of Dates.

The selection of the dates for the meeting of the state commercial convention in Louisville was a happy solution of the question as to the best time that the industrial congress should be held. It falls in a week which will offer to the visitors to the Paducah is to this week have something that has not been seen here for years. This is a genuine wagon circus. One of those old time shows like Dan Rice used to have and bring here. The show is owned by a man named Clark, and the advance wagons are now here. There are about 40 wagons in all, and 75 head of horses. All the travel is done by wagon, the modern railroad transportation being something unknown to this particular circus. The proprietor has been in business for about 35 years, and claims to have some of the original Dan Rice show.

He has been out West for a number of years, playing towns where railroads and circuses were unknown. He has now returned to civilization, and the entire show is expected Friday. It will show in Mechanicsburg.

The word ship is masculine in French, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese, and possesses no sex in Teutonic and Scandinavian. Even a man-of-war is she to our sailors. Perhaps it would not be an error to trace the custom back to the Greeks, who called all ships by feminine names, probably out of deference to Athene, goddess of the sea. But the sailor assigns no such reasons. The ship is to him a veritable sweetheart, and it is a common thing to hear him ascribing it to vitality and intelligence.

The ship possesses a waist, collar, stays, laces, bonnets, ties, ribbons, combats, earrings, chains, watches, jewels and scarfs, and there is often considerable "bustle" about her. She is full of pins, hooks and eyes. She also possesses a forehead, nose, head, eyes, shoulders and more than one heart. The keeper of a ship in port is familiarly called the "ship's husband." If we add that she looks best when fully "rigged out" we may have enough of sailor logic to account for the feminine name.

A well known member of the Paducah bar who is noted for his absent-mindedness, Saturday morning came down town for the purpose of getting a shave. He discussed the war question at the barber shop until he had been shaved and was ready to start, when he announced that he had lost his collar. The employees of the shop turned out full force to find the missing article of apparel but could not do so. The entire shop was ransacked, and finally the lawyer had to leave without it. When he went home he found the missing collar upon the mantle, where he had left it. He forgot to wear it down town.

A local solicitor for a newspaper called at a certain residence the other day, and found a new use to which papers may be put. It will no doubt meet with the approval of those housewives who have not heretofore appreciated the value of a newspaper.

"I'd like to leave the paper here a week or two on trial," remarked the solicitor.

"No, I don't care for it," replied the lady, "but I'll go in the house and ask my sister if she wants it."

She disappeared and was gone several minutes, before she returned and shook her head. "No, she doesn't want it either," she remarked.

"What's the matter?" inquired the disappointed solicitor.

"Well, she tried it once," was the rejoinder, "and it doesn't fit her safe!"

The solicitor laughed and concluded the interview by observing that it was the first time he had ever heard of ladies taking a paper because it fits the shelves in their safes.

"Talking about dudes in the army," remarked Dr. J. G. Brooks, "I'll never forget the time we all left Paducah during the late war for camp. There were several society boys among us, and there were also roustabouts, cooks, and most everything else in the company, and we were naturally a little ashamed of being in the company with them. I guess this was natural, for few of us had been in the habit of associating with them. It proved to be a case of pride going before a fall, however, for soon after we got in camp the fall came.

"We were taken down here back of Clarksville, where we went into camp. We cleaned us off an avenue and named it 'Camp Beauregard.' That afternoon we cleaned our boots and shined them nicely, for we knew the ladies from the city would be down for dress parade. We of course desired to put up a good appearance, and no doubt looked as proud as we felt just before that parade. Then came Gen. Lloyd Tilghman along.

"Pausing in front of us, he drew his sword, and said: 'Young men, I have a word to say to you. You are no longer gentlemen—you are soldiers.'

"It did not take us long to find this out, either. We soon realized that soldiers are all alike—all equal. It was a valuable lesson. All soldiers should learn it as soon as possible."

The following story is told on Eli Perkins, who recently lectured in Hopkinsville. When he appeared before his audience there were about a dozen present to greet him.

The gentleman who was to introduce him, being a man of ready wit and considerable tact, looked over the crowd a moment, and then smilingly introduced to the distinguished lecturer, one by one, the few composing the audience as "Mrs. Brown, Mr. Perkins," "Mr. Jones, Mr. Perkins," etc., until the audience had been introduced. The lecturer was then delivered.

Down in Cuba, according to Mr. George Parke, a young ex-newspaper man, who is now here, there is an insect called a "chigoe," or "burrowing flea." It gets under the finger or toe nails, and in a few seconds can not be dislodged. It lays a small egg which hatches in about twenty-four hours. Unless the nail is split, it burrows, and if allowed to go long without attention it is usually the case that the member has to be amputated. Many children can be seen running about minus several toes, some of them having no toes at all. When the natives are so unfortunate as to become afflicted with the pests they usually know from experience that it is necessary to split the nail. This is a painful operation, but a very essential one.

A good joke is told on Postmaster J. W. Cole, of Benton. He pretends that he is very anxious to get hold of some of those Spaniards and teach them a few things about the fighting qualities of a Kentuckian, especially one from Marshall county.

A few nights ago he awoke talking in his sleep, saying, "Jim give me a match." His wife of course asked him what he wanted with it, and he replied, "I want to get a fire started so we can have some supper, get to sleep easily and then we will feel like giving them Spaniards—I'll be to-morrow when we attack Morro Casle."

Next morning he denied saying any such words asleep or awake, and begged his wife not tell such a thing on him as the boys would joke him too much, but you know 'tis said a woman can't keep a secret by herself, hence the joke got out.

COLORED DEPARTMENT.

Mr. Henry Mansfield, of South Seventh street, is slowly improving.

With the negro there are two war cries: "Remember the fate of Mexico" and "Remember the Maine."

The Register, of Mobile, Ala., says there will be a negro volunteer regiment in that place, and will take part in the mobilization of the forces there. They are well spoken of by those who have command of them. Singularly, as a rule their officers are southern men, and from these officers comes word that these men are well disciplined, well put up, and soldierly in every respect.

It was thought by many that, through fear of an attack from Spain, the government of Hayti would shield Spanish privateering vessels, but that government has officially informed the U. S. minister, Mr. W. F. Powell, that she will fulfill the terms of her treaty with that government during the war.

An industrial May fair will be given by the A. M. E. church on the 26th, 27th and 28th inst., at the Odd Fellows' hall. At this fair the best hand work of our people will be on exhibition. Rewards will be made on the best in each class of exhibits. Mrs. Josie Barnes is president.

The Mayblossom club will meet at the Washington street church Tuesday evening, at which time all the members and friends are expected to be present. All kinds of refreshments will be served. Admission free.

It will not do to say that the colored man has no gratitude or that his heart is barren of generosity, however much these virtues may seem lacking in minor matters. Thousands of ex-slaves have told with pitiful sighs of the hardships and burdens of past days, but have grown eloquent in relating some kindness received at the hands of their taskmasters. We have seen them shed a profusion of tears and weep bitterly at the grave of a fallen oppressor. Is this gratitude? And has it ever been taken advantage of by the unscrupulous and designing?

After the colored troops were mustered out of service in the last conflict, they gave $50,000, or one-fourth of the entire cost of the Lincoln monument at Springfield, Ill.

During the last war 178,000 colored soldiers entered, and 80,000 laid down their precious lives for the liberty and preservation of the Union. And now as the day draws on for a stand for the country against a foreign foe, the colored man exhibits a patriotism equal to none in peace or war.

Again, the time is not many weeks distant when the 321,363 graves of soldiers, buried in thirty-two national cemeteries, will be decorated, and he has never been known to offer anything but a most lavish tribute.

Rev. J. W. Hawkins preached a most excellent sermon yesterday at the 11 o'clock services at the Washington street church.

The Willing Workers club will meet this evening at the Washington street church. Refreshments will be served in abundance.

Rev. J. W. Hall's sermon to young men at Burks' chapel yesterday was a rare treat, and is spoken of in very high terms by all who heard it.

Rev. G. W. Stoner left the city today for the General conference of his church at Columbus, S. C.

The meeting at Burks' Chapel has been one of the most successful revival ever held in this city. The conversions and reclamations have been one hundred and fifteen with twenty-five or thirty mourners yet earnestly seeking Christ.

The meeting yesterday (Sunday) was a perfect spiritual outflow all day. Four young men were happily converted, and shouted the praises of God in the highest.

Rev. J. W. Hall who has been conducting this meeting is said to be one of the greatest revivalists that has ever held a meeting in this city. His tongue is a silvery key which knows well every ward of the human heart in weal or woe. He is intensely earnest, and lives to a letter the Gospel he preaches. A MEMBER.

The company this morning about 10 o'clock elected first and second lieutenants.

There were several candidates for the place. Those for first lieutenant were Messrs. Alf Stewart and Will Farley. The vote was Stewart 69, Farley 9. For second lieutenant Mr. Hense Harris received 58 votes. Capt. B. B. Davis this afternoon appointed the following non-commissioned officers:

Artificers: Harry Johnson and W. J. Conner.

First and second musicians: J. W. Walker and Waggoner.

The boys have today been getting shoes and other articles they need, out of the citizens fund.

Probably the biggest day during the several weeks, may be months, that the troops are quartered in Lexington, will be when Governor Bradley and staff make the official review and inspection. The date has not yet been definitely determined upon as yet, but whenever it is it will bring thousands of excursionists to the city.

The two camps of soldiers, at the fair grounds and at Chautauqua, will be named "Camp Collier" and "Camp Bradley," respectively, upon the suggestion of Col. Wilbur R. Smith.

Prof. Frank Dean has secured the following volunteers to respond to the next call and furnish music for the soldier boys. They are all good musicians, and are very much in earnest. They are:

John Storch, solo cornet. John Hobson, solo cornet. Joe Bonds, first B flat cornet. Wesley Flowers, second B flat cornet.

Bob Robinson, E flat clarinet. Murray Gilbert, solo B flat clarinet.

Jack Mitchell, B flat clarinet. J. H. Baldwin, B flat clarinet. George Robinson, piccolo. Fred Williams, solo alto. H. O. Farnham, first alto. Hugh Burroughs, second alto. L. Bartley Schmitt, baritone. Roy Dawson, slide trombone. Harry Cunningham, slide trombone.

Chris McMahon, tuba. Albert Rehkopf, tuba. Louis Brenner, bass drum. Ellis Bour, snare drum. Frank Dean, band master.

The flag to be presented to the company by the citizens of Paducah arrived this morning, and is a beauty. It has been on exhibition today at the city office and has been admired by many people. The presentation will be arranged as soon as possible.

Those desiring to subscribe to the citizen's fund may leave the amounts at Ezel & Brian's, on Broadway, as the committee cannot see everybody.

The military company is requested to attend a meeting at the First Baptist church, in the basement, at 7 o'clock tonight, Rev. Ford has something to say to the boys. All others who desire to attend are invited.

Col. Gaither has selected the surgeons for the Second regiment. They are Dr. W. D. Powell, of Harrodsburg, chief surgeon; Dr. W. H. Dade, formerly of Frankfort, now of Chicago, first assistant, and Dr. Farmer, of Louisville, second assistant.

The examining physicians, to conduct the physical examination of the Kentucky troops, which are to assemble at Lexington this week, have been appointed. The appointment was made in accordance with the recommendation of Governor Bradley. The examination will be conducted by Lieut. Col. Gardner, surgeon of the United States army, and his assistants are Drs. David Barrow and B. L. Coleman, of Lexington.

Lieut. Col. Gardner is expected to arrive here today and the examination will begin as soon as the troops begin to mobilize.

A band of eighteen pieces is wanted by the Second regiment, U. S. G. The leader will receive $60 per month, two cornets $34 each, and fifteen others $16 each. Good musicians desiring to enlist may address T. B. Cronwell, clerk of the regiment.

Dr. Boyd fowled a number of the boys Saturday who went there to be examined for places in the company. Several of them wear glasses, and of course left them at home or in their pockets.

When the doctor examined them and never once mentioned their eyes they were highly elated, thinking they had escaped.

When the list was made out, however, they were disappointed to find they were not on it. One of them approached the doctor about it.

"You didn't look at my eyes, doctor," he said. "I didn't have anything else the matter with me, and I don't see why I didn't pass."

"No, I didn't look at your eyes," replied the doctor, "but I saw that crease on your nose where you have worn your glasses plainly enough. That was sufficient for me."

The following members of the military company were accepted at the medical examination Saturday afternoon at the Boyd infirmary:

C. T. Trotter, John Herm, Ben F. Byng, John Croal, J. H. Rucker, Wm C. Clutchfield, Jack Nelson, Lester Park, Will H. Farley, George Goddard, J. H. Loe, Ed Loftin, A. J. Bradley, H. E. Dickey, M. W. As will be seen, about thirty of the boys failed to pass the examination. Messrs. Joe Smith and W. C. Shearer were inadvertently left out of the first list. They were among those passing the best examination.

Col. Crumbaugh is in receipt of a letter from Murray, stating that the company there has been completed, and that Crumbaugh says this about the battalion. He expects orders from the adjutant general tomorrow. The regiment will belong to the national guards, and the list may be seen at the fire department.

THEY FIGHT LIKE MEN.

commanding the Maria Christina, was killed. Commodore Montejó, commanding the fleet, shifted his flag from the Maria Christina to the Isla de Cuba, a much smaller steel protected cruiser, just before the Christina sank.

The blowing up of the Don Juan de Austria was attended by a great loss of life among the crew, her commander also being killed.

Commodore Dewey's squadron, leaving Subic Bay, a few miles from Manila, about 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, proceeded toward Manila. Under the cover of darkness he entered the harbor of Manila, the batteries located there announcing his arrival.

Both fleets lined up for battle at daybreak—about 5 o'clock—yesterday morning. The guns of the American warships began firing on the fortress of Cavite and the arsenal of Manila. The American squadron about 9 o'clock drew off to the east side of the bay and took refuge behind some foreign vessels. The ships had evidently suffered considerable damage. After they made some hasty repairs they returned to the conflict. During this engagement the guns of Cavite maintained a steady and stronger fire upon Commodore Dewey's ships than in the first encounter, but the American guns were being used with telling effect.

As the smoke lifted it was seen that the flagship Reina Maria Christina was on fire.

The vessel was completely burned. In the interval between the two engagements Commodore Montejó had moved his flag from the Christina to the smaller cruiser Isla de Cuba. To the fact that he made this change he doubtless owes his life.

The cruiser Castilla, next to the flagship the largest and most powerful of the Spanish squadron, was also burned. The cruiser Don Antonio de Ulloa and the Miranda were also badly damaged.

There were undoubtedly heavy losses in men on both sides. On apparently trustworthy report state that the Spanish had two hundred killed and four hundred wounded.

Trustworthy details of the American loss of life will hardly be obtainable until Commodore Dewey has taken Manila or has sent a vessel with dispatches to Hong Kong.

Protection from Pickpockets. On some of the half-penny omnibuses which run across the bridges of London to the tramway lines, the pickpocket is now seriously hampered in his business. The outside seats, or garden-chairs, as they are sometimes called, are backed with wire netting, and the pockets of the women passengers are now inaccessible from a back seat.
